CHILDREN'S BOOK AUTHOR TODAY!

If you would like to nominate a hero let us know.

Major Bertrand DeJarnette (1904–1992) was an American chiropractor, osteopath, engineer, and researcher best known as the founder of Sacro Occipital Technique (SOT)—a comprehensive chiropractic system focused on biomechanics, cranial-sacral relationships, and neurological function. Trained originally in engineering, DeJarnette brought a highly analytical and experimental approach to manual therapy. Over more than six decades, he wrote extensively, developed diagnostic and adjusting protocols, and contributed influential ideas to cranial chiropractic and the study of somatic reflex patterns. His work helped shape several modern chiropractic methods, and he remains a prominent figure in the field's technical and theoretical development.

The Million-Dollar Mistake Most Chiropractors Make When Selling Their Practice

Too many chiropractors wait until they're burned out or physically unable to practice before considering a transition. At that point, their practice value has often dropped—patient visits decline, staff may become disengaged, and the stress of trying to find a buyer quickly can result in a rushed, underpriced sale.

The biggest mistake is assuming the only way to exit is through a traditional sale—often requiring an SBA loan, a large down payment from a buyer, and a one-time payout to the seller. This approach not only limits your pool of buyers but often comes with steep tax implications.

Enter the hybrid earnout—a flexible transition model that allows you to sell your practice for 2–3 times more than it would sell for outright. With an earnout, the seller retains ownership while gradually transferring income and equity to a junior partner (buyer) over 5–10 years. One of the biggest benefits for the seller is the ability to leave after a normal 90-day transition—retiring or moving on without being tied to the practice for years. The buyer puts down a nominal upfront investment, receives raises and equity annually, and never has to make payments out of pocket. Meanwhile, the seller maintains control of the finances and receives consistent income while reducing liability and taxes.

An earnout may sound unconventional, but it's actually the most sustainable and lucrative strategy in today's chiropractic market. Unlike a one-time sale, an earnout allows for mentorship, maximized valuation, and far greater control of the transition.

We've seen sellers go from $750K in a traditional valuation to over $3.4M with a properly structured earnout. The difference is preparation, mindset, and the right partner. Whether you're 5 years out or ready to sell next year, now is the time to plan.

To explore whether an earnout is right for your transition, email us at office@chirocom.com to schedule a confidential discovery call.
